

Fall Internship Announcement

The Democratic Party of Virginia seeks enthusiastic and responsible interns for the fall of 2009. This fall will be an exciting time with the Democratic Party of Virginia as we have succeeded with sending Mark Warner to the U.S. Senate, and made history by winning Virginia for our Democratic president-elect, Barack Obama, for the first time since 1964; and as we work towards electing Senator Creigh Deeds as Governor. As interns, students will have ample opportunity to learn about internal party operations, including, candidate support, campaign strategy, grassroots outreach, fundraising, and event planning. The internship provides a chance to meet and work with Democratic public officials, party leaders, and candidates, while working alongside the party's professional staff.

Interns will work mainly at State Party Headquarters in our state capital of Richmond. Internships are unpaid but may be taken for college credit, depending on the number of hours worked. We request that students join us for a minimum of 15 hours per week during the summer.
